HAVAS

Paris, Feb. 3rd—Dr. Guillermo Rawson, the eminent member of the Argentine Faculty, ex-Minister and Senator, died last night. The Argentine colony will give him a sumptuous funeral.

Paris, Feb. 3rd (evening)—M. Ernest de la Tour has just been appointed secretary of the third class to the French Legation in Buenos Aires.

Rome, Feb. 3rd.—A rumour is current that a case of illness in Bologna is supposed to be Asiatic cholera.

GALVESTON.

Sofia, Feb. 1—Major Panitz and several other military officers have been arrested, but for what reason is not yet known.

London, Feb. 1—Lord Athlumney has been declared bankrupt.

The Hague, Feb. 1—In consequence of the defeat of the Colonial Bill and of the opposition to the Government measures in Acheen by the first Chamber of the States General, the Ministry have presented their collective resignation.

Berlin, Feb. 2—Daily events corroborate the ideas held by those in the immediate confidence of the Emperor that there is a great divergence of views between him and Bismarck on the steps that the Government ought to take with regard to several important matters. There is much talk with reference to Bismarck's objection to the tone of the speech from the throne. Conjectures as to the result of the elections tend to show that the Conservatives and the Centre will remain intact, the National Liberals may lose 25 seats, whilst the Socialists may increase their number to 42 and probably will prove themselves a powerful party who, if they ally themselves with the Centre and Liberals, may easily defeat the Government.

London, Feb. 3rd—On the opening of Parliament on the 11th, Sir William Fergussen, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, will be asked if any Cabinet Council or consultation of Ministers was held before the despatch to Portugal of Lord Salisbury's Note threatening a rupture of diplomatic relations. It is said that the Note was not seen by any Minister but Salisbury, who, however, is confident of general support.

Paris, Feb. 3—The French Government is to be reorganized although no crisis has taken place. Constans will be appointed Governor of Algeria and other changes are expected. It is believed that the new Government will be more in harmony with Carnot's ideas and will be less vulnerable to attacks by the Corps Legislatifs.

MONTEVIDEO

Amongst those present were the following families:—Berdier, Harislao, Casares, Saavedra, Madero, Diaz, Ocampo, Quirno, Costa, Martinez de Hoz, Quesada, Lucs, Peralta Ramos, Lagos and Agrelo. Rufino Luro took off the prize: a bronze ornament and gold medal.

The Bristol Hotel Company have offered a beautiful Sevres tea-service as a prize, to be contested this evening. Weather splendid.

(From the Interior.)

Cordoba, 3—The reception given to Minister Bocayuva and party was splendid. Many thousand people were present. The train arrived at ten in the evening, when all the bands in the place began playing the Argentine and Brazilian hymns. The crowd cheered Brazil, Minister Bocayuva, Governor Juarez, President Juarez, Minister Zebdllos and Baron Alencar. President Juarez made a speech full of eloquence and feeling. Minister Bocayuva and party have taken up their quarters in the Hotel de Roma.

Tucuman, 3—Preparations are being made here to receive Minister Bocayuva.

Dr. Soroz, judge of the first instance, has resigned.

Great animation in higher social circles.

Messrs. Nougues yesterday sold threef lots of land at $91,000 each in the Boulevard Avellaneda.

Weather rather fresh.

MUTUAL LOSS COMPANY

The collapse of a local joint stock Company called "La Tutelar" is the subject of universal comment, and we give at foot all the details, which we extract from our Italian colleague La Patria Italiana, who has rendered good service by exposing a concern in which no fewer than 1777 Italian workmen and shareholders have lost their savings.

On frequent occasions last year we called attention to the improper facilities afforded in this market for the starting of every imaginable company. A table, two chairs, and ink stand with pens ink and paper formed the sole working capital of some of these mushroom companies, and yet to be legally started statutes had to be drawn up, presented to Government, and approved by the Procurador General.

It may be argued that these things correct themselves, and that when a tight money market comes all that is unsound goes to the wall, but in the meantime the public and the market suffers; and although we have the very highest opinion of Dr Dn Eduardo Costa, who has so ably filled the post of Attorney General for so many years, we cannot overlook the fact that he had the power to check the over-growth of these companies and save the market from a species of John Lawism that has landed us all where we are to day.

Respecting this Tutelar Company our colleague gives the following:—

"Our reporter had an interview with the chairman who said it was a mutual Aid Society for sick workmen, and that he could justify all that the Directors' report said on January 29th. Books in perfect order by double entry.

Capital $13,264.

Monthly expenses $1800; capital all eaten up by this.

The mutual aid, therefore, is only for the Board and clerks.

The way the money went was as follows:

Monthly salaries—
President General $490 m/n.
Director Medico 400 m/n.
Treasurer 300 m/n.
Inspector 200 m/n.
Accountant 150 m/n.
Office 150 m/n; also 4 per cent on receipts.

There was a stormy meeting of shareholders at the Doria theatre last week, which ended in a rumpus that gave rise to the present inquiry. The deficit, we understand, is only 3360 dollars m/n, and the shareholders, who last year numbered 2770, have dwindled to 1800 and, we suppose, the number is now beautifully less.

We certainly think that the Minister of Hacienda, Dr. Pacheco, without whose approval the company could not have started, is bound to take some steps to inquire into the affairs of this company, and as far as in his power protect the unfortunate Italian workmen from such severe losses."

BRAZIL PAST AND FUTURE.

(From the "Contemporary Review.")

PRODUCTS.

Coffee is the sheet-anchor of Brazilian industry and wealth. Its cultivation was introduced by a poor priest in 1754, and Brazil now grows 60 per cent of the coffee of the world, the crop in 1885 being estimated at 390,000 tons, against 163,000 in 1855. The plantations cover 2,200,000 acres, with about 900,000 millions trees. In good years the crop is valued at 22 millions sterling, nine-tenths being exported. Sugar is the oldest industry, the crop averaging 300,000 tons, valued at £4,000,000. Cotton has declined of late years, the area being under 100,000 acres and the yield from 30,000 to 40,000 tons of cotton-wool, worth about £1,500,000. The Yerbales or tea-forests cover 10 million acres, the annual product being 40,000 tons, of which one-half is exported, of the value of £500,000. India-rubber from the Amazon averages £800,000. The tobacco crop, from 100,000 acres, is estimated at 38,000 tons, valued at £1,400,000. Thus the total vegetable products make up about 30 millions sterling. Animal products are considerably under 4 millions sterling, and manufactures of all descriptions fall short of 10 millions. There was a time when gold and diamonds formed principal products, when the Viceroy's horse was shod with the glittering metal, but at present the total product under these heads is barely £400,000 a year. If to the foregoing we add the earnings of railways, tramways, gas companies, shipping, banks, merchants, professional classes etc. we find the total earnings of the nation approach a sum of 70 millions sterling per annum. We see, therefore, that the wealth of Brazil is rather a figure of speech than a reality. The earnings and industries of the Argentine Republic in 1884 amounted to £62,300,000, with a population of only 3,200,000 souls, or one-third that of Brazil. In the one country the average is nearly £20 per head, in the other barely £6, but wealth is so congested in the latter that two-thirds of the population are extremely poor, while many of the planters have enormous incomes. There is some similarity between the condition of things in Russia and that in Brazil, neither country being at all as rich as its neighbors.

Engineering has done wonders in Brazil, and the traveller is astonished at the signs of gigantic labor and persevering energy amid a people and climate suggestive of indolence. The first railway was made in 1851 by Baron Maua, to the Organ Mountains, and was soon followed by the Pedro Segundo, a main trunk line with numerous branches, which passes through the most magnificent scenery, carrying two million passengers yearly. The Santos and San Paulo line, made by a London company in 1860 at a cost of three millions sterling, is another triumph of engineering, being carried over the Serra Cubaton at a height of 2,700 feet by means of four inclines of one in 10, up which the train is drawn by a chain. The Bahia and Pernambuco lines, also by English companies, were made about the same time. Several new lines are being constructed in the interior, one of the most remarkable being the Misiones and Rio Grande line, of which Mr. O'Meara has recently opened some sections on the Upper Uruguay. At the close of 1888 there were 5,300 miles of railway in Brazil in actual traffic, of which 4,200 miles had been constructed since 1877. Some of them cost over £30,000 a mile, owing to the tremendous natural obstacles of the route. The total outlay exceeds 100 millions sterling, about 1,300 miles having been made by Government, including the Pedro Segundo line, and 4,000 by joint-stock companies, chiefly English. There are 7,100 miles of telegraph by land, besides cables along the coast from the Amazon to Montevideo. Except Ginty's roads near Rio Janeiro, there are few highways; distances are so great and population so sparse; the overland route from Rio Janeyro to Goyaz, for instance, takes 120, and that to Matto Grosso 140 days. Nevertheless, all the principal towns have gas works, schools and other marks of civilization; the municipal hospitals of Brazil are some of the finest in the world—that of the Misericordia at Rio Janeyro receiving 14,000 indoor patients yearly. Schools are not yet sufficiently numerous, only 15 per cent of children of school age receiving any instruction. Dock-yards and arsenals are numerous and well-equipped, and many of the principal ports have been improved by Sir John Hawkshaw. M. G. M.

LONDON LETTER.

NEWS OF THE EVENING.

Dec. 28th.

Brazilian scrip (1889) was done yesterday at eleven per cent. discount. It has since slightly recovered. The reactionery press in Europe is using all its art in lying to disparage the new republic and the credit of Brazil. So far, the replies of the Brazilian Government have been complete, excepting in one instance. There is an ugly affair of an India rubber concern in Para to which the new Government is said to have granted a monopoly, If the Brazilian republican government is about to copy the worst features of the republican party in the United States of North America, it will fare badly. For the rest, we are satisfied that incidents which have occurred since the revolution have been maliciously exaggerated in reports received mostly from Lisbon. The ex-emperor is not blamed. He is supposed to have held aloof from political discussion. But his entourage is busy in maligning the Government in Rio, and to-day's London papers tell us, no doubt with troth, that the civil list was accepted in Rio by the emperor and that it was not withdrawn by the Government, but that the emperor, under the influence of his advisers in Lisbon, chose to withdraw acceptance of it until granted by the new assembly. Still, the British investor is evidently chary of the new republic and of republics in general and may prefer, for the present "to go into Turks."

There seem to be signs of higher rates in the London money market. Seven days' loans are at 4½ to 6 per cent. In the discount market three months' bank paper is 3½ to 4 per cent. Money is dear in New York, and the Paris exchange is very low. The Economist thinks it quite clear that those who were counting on low rates at the beginning of the year will be disappointed. Remembering that the foreign demand for gold is still unsatisfied, that there is a steady absorption of coin in the internal circulation, and that the bank reserve is now at an exceptionally low level, there seems to be much more reason to look for an advance in rates than for a decline.

In general news this evening, the most sensational features are an old article, or 'Confession", written in 1844 and just republished by Mr. Gladstone, or with his authority, and a rumour published by the Evening News and Post, a London paper, that Mr. Parnell is to be co-respondent in a divorce case. The petitioner is Captain O'Shea. The lady, Mrs. O'Shea, is a sister of Sir Evelyn Wood. The adultery took place during the period from April, 1886, up to the date of the petition at the undermentioned places: Eltham, 34 York Terrace Regent's Park; Brighton and Addington, Sussex. No damages are claimed.

As for Mr. Gladstone, who is determined to keep himself en evidence, he seems to have rather approved the Roman practice of the Confessional in 1844, and we are to assume, from his republishing his review of an old novel, "Ellen Middleton" that he still looks forward to the introduction of the confessional as a healthy "means of discipline". In 1844 he seems also to have hated methodists and the "evangelical revival" of the last century, and probably does so still, although, as a politician, he must be considered more starkly mad than even some of us have thought him to take up these questions at such a time.

It is almost a pleasant change to refer to the fight between Slavin and Smith which was characterised by a brutal behaviour on the part of the so-called English champion's supporters that has created a general disgust. The men fought fourteen rounds towards the end of which, and, indeed, from early in the fight, Smith was evidently getting thrashed. His "corner" men ill-treated poor Slavin and in one report we received we heard he was dead. He is however safe and sound in Margate and has received a sympathetic letter from the 'Pelicans' to which Mr. Slavin replied in gracious and suitable language. I send you a Sporting Life for the fun of the thing, although I dare say there are plenty of copies in Buenos Ayres. The portrait of Slavin carries one back to the revolting scenes of the Roman Circus, and the whole business is a disgrace to all the Anglo-Celtic tribes concerned—English, Irish, Americans and Australians.

THE SIBERIAN ATROCITIES

Up to the spring of 1889 the authorities at Yakoutsk thought it was only right to show some leniency to the exiles under "administrative order." They argued, and justly, that, as these latter had not been condemned to death, it was necessary to take some measures to prevent their dying of starvation; therefore, to prevent the overcrowding of the post stations, only small batches of prisoners were despatched at a time, and these at intervals of 10 to 15 days from each other. Further, to enable the prisoners to procure food for the journey and the indispensable articles of clothing, the allowance made for the journey was paid to them 10 days in advance. But, as the prisoners have also to feed the Cossacks of their escort, the Government allowance was not sufficient, and an advance was made to them from their monthly pay. This does not exceed six roubles. These were not very great concessions, and did not prevent the occasional death from cold of a child, even while nursed with the utmost care in its mother's arms. The mortality and cases of illness among adults were also excessive. But all this is quite within the ordinary programme of a Russian exile's life, and it is extraordinary how quietly, how submissively, they endure such suffering. Something especially ferocious and unusual must occur before protests are raised. This is precisely what happened at Yakoutsk.

The new Vice-Governor of Yakoutsk, Ostashine, who fulfilled, ad interim, the functions of Governor, thought fit to alter all these rules or customs relating to the transport of exiles under "administrative order." He decided that four instead of two prisoners should start at once which, with the escort, made eight persons, and this at short intervals of only seven days. The money allowance for the journey was to be paid only the day before the departure, and the advance of money on the exiles' pay suppressed altogether. Further, the exiles were all to surrender themselves at the prison the day before starting; so that it would be absolutely impossible for them to make the purchases indispensable for such a journey. Finally, they were forbidden to take with them more than 80 kilogrammes of luggage and provisions per head. Considering the impossibility of obtaining fresh provisions on the road and the conditions under which the journey must be performed, these new regulations were equivalent to a sentence of death to most of the exiles. It must not be forgotten that this journey was along tracks rendered almost impassable by the melting snow and had thus to be performed without proper clothes and food, not merely by men, but also by women and young girls. Under these circumstances, and considering that the new regulations placed their lives in serious peril, the exiles resolved to address a joint petition to the Vice Governor, pointing out all the dangers and imploring him to revert to the former rules governing the transport of exiles under "administrative order." The justice of these protests was confirmed by the testimony of an Isprawnik (district police commissioner) and by one of the postmasters. These two experts, who certainly cannot be suspected of Nihilist sympathies, declared that it was impossible to travel in the manner indicated by the Governor Ostashine.

At first it seemed as if the administration would favour the petitioners. The chief of the Yakoutsk police, Soukhatcheff, promised to report to the Governor, and would communicate his reply that evening. The exiles were told to meet in the neighbouring house of M. Notkine, an exile under "administrative order" condemned to reside at Yakoutsk. Of course the petitioners did not fail to keep the appointment, and M. Soukhatcheff came according to his word, gave them every hope that the obnoxious regulations would be revoked, but also informed them that M. Ostashine, the acting governor, was very much vexed to hear that the exiles had been is a body to the offices of the Provincial Administration. This was considered too much like a political demonstration, and to prevent the recurrence of any such manifestation, the exiles were told to assemble again the following day in the house of M. Notkine, when they would receive a definite answer. Accordingly the next day they met once again at M. Notkine's house, and were looking forward to a favorable reply. They had not waited long, when a subaltern officer of police, named Olessoff, entered and ordered them to follow him to the offices of the Administration. The exiles, of course, observed that they had been specially ordered, by the chief of police, not to go in a body to the Government offices. "Then you refuse to follow me," shouted Olessoff, and he turned his back upon them. The exiles tried to make him understand that they were only puzzled by the contradictory character of his request and the instructions they had received from the chief of the police. Therefore, they only asked for some explanation. The police officer, however, left them without deigning to reply.

A shocking scene now began, for a few moments later the house was surrounded by soldiers and policemen. There were present at the time Jacques Notkine, the owner of the house, and Sophia Gourewitch, Serge Pik, Peter Moukhanoff, Gregory Chour, Albert Hausmann, Nicholas Zotoff, Leon Kohan-Bernstein and Sarah Kohan-Bernstein his wife, Joseph Minor, Michel Gatz, Vera Hassock, Joseph Escrowitch, Michel Orloff, Martien Foundaminsky, Alexander Gourewitch, Eugenie Gourewitch, Michel Efland, Moses Bramson, Murest Bragainsky, Pauline Percy Anasthasia Schechter, Leonide Berman, Constantine Terechkowitch, Samuel Regine, Anisja Bolstine, Rosa Frank; all belonging to the band of exiles. But there were also some visitors, namely—Boris Fleismark, Serge Kanher, and the latter's brother, Anne Zoroastroff. These were political exiles living at a "oulous" or encampment of a nomad tribe. They had obtained permission to come up to Yatoutsk to buy provisions. The scene that ensued is thus described by one of the victims:—

On looking out of the window, I perceived a detachment of soldiers advancing. When within a hundred yards of the dwelling they charged, flung themselves against the door, which at once broke up into splinters, and gave them admittance into the yard. The house was instantly surrounded and the yard thronged with troops and policemen. We had hardly time to open the door for them. Led by an officer, they rushed into the rooms and we were crushed into a corner. There were 70 soldiers, commanded by the officer Karamtine. The commander of the garrison, Vageff, was there, as also the chief of the police, M. Soukhatcheff, together with numerous policemen, Cossacks, etc.

When the house was filled with all these people, we were summoned to allow ourselves to be conducted under escort to the Police Bureau. Kahan-Bernstein, addressing the officer Karamtine, and speaking in the name of all his comrades, replied that they were perfectly willing to go, and this of their own free will; that they were more desirous than any one else of knowing the reply the Governor meant to make to their petition, that all this violent display of armed force was absolutely useless, and constituted an uncalled for insult to the exiles, for they had done nothing to provoke such measures. The officer seemed inclined to admit the force of this reasoning, but the chief of the police interrupted these explanations, and, speaking to the officer Karamtine, shouted, "You have done enough talking; do what you have been ordered." The officer, evidently in a state of great excitement, mechanically repeated, "Will you follow us; reply, yes or no." "Yes, yes," cried several of the exiles, "give us only time to put on our overcoats." But the soldiers did not wait or listen, they sprang upon the unfortunate exiles and struck them with their bayonets and the butt-end of their guns. In a moment several men fell among those who were the nearest to the soldiers, and then shots were fired, and this again and again. It is impossible for me to describe the scene which followed, or what I felt at this moment. I do not understand how it was we were not all killed; that some of us escaped seems a miracle. The soldiers, after the first attack, rushed out into the yard, but the house was bombarded from all four sides. The bullets came in by the windows and even penetrated through the thin walls. There was no shelter anywhere. We all went into the largest room of the house, and some of us tried to escape by the back door, but had hardly opened it when they fell back dead and pierced by several bullets. Chour, mad with terror, sprang into the yard, shouting "Enough! enough! We surrender," but a pistol shot, fired by the officer Karamtine brought him down. Podbelsky, a political exile, who lived close by and was quietly sitting in his room, came running out, when he heard the report of fire-arms, to see what was happening. He had hardly reached the court occupied by the soldiers when he was shot and killed. The commander of the garrison, Vageff, himself terrified by this slaughter, had drawn his sword, and running in front of his soldiers tried to make them cease firing. At this moment the Governor, Ostashin, arrived in person, and perceiving the exile Zotoff, who had come out of the bombarded house, he fired at him twice with his revolver and wounded him. At this example the fire of the soldiers was renewed with greater energy. Their fury seemed unlimited. Joseph Estrowitch, who was wounded and was motionless on the ground, was attacked by the soldiers and bayonetted several times.

DEATH OF THE BISHOP OF MONTEVIDEO.

Montevideo, 2nd.

On Saturday night Monseñor Yeregui, Bishop of Montevideo, succumbed to a sudden attack of the heart. He had just dined and was seated in an arm chair when he felt the attack coming on. His paleness and weakness alarmed his sister and nephew, who were with him, and his secretary was immediately sent in quest of a doctor. He could only find an apothecary, who gave the Bishop some ether to inhale. The Bishop, however, refused, saying "it is useless; I am dying". A few minutes afterwards, after having received the sacrament of Extreme Unction, he breathed his last. The suddenness of Bishop Yeregni's death has steeped Montevideo in sorrow, for the Bishop was universally liked and esteemed for his virtues and ability.

The body was embalmed this morning, and the Government, as customary in such cases, will decree public obsequies. A detachment of troops has been stationed round the house as a guard of honor. Crowds upon crowds are visiting the house The body will be kept in state for two or three days. In the meantime Dr. Mariano Soler provisionally fills the vacant seat of the diocese.

A monument is to be erected in the Cathedral to perpetuate the memory of the Bishop, whose loss everyone in Montevideo regrets.

CENTROS-AGRICOLAS.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

Most of your readers are aware that the professed object of the Centros-Agricolas was the formation of colonies, selling land to settlers upon easy and long payments. This end is arrived at by the Mortgage Bank granting Cedulas to the actual land owners, who in their turn re-sell to the colonists in small lots. The Provincial Bank makes advances, in cash, to these colonists, with a yearly amortization of only ten per cent., instead of the much higher rates usual in this city. In practice, unhappily, up to the present, this law works but badly, many of the lands authorised as Centros Agricolas are most unfit for such a purpose, in many instances being low, where the frost plays havoc always with the young crop, to say nothing of the floods rotting the seed. Cedulas have been lavished upon these agricultural centres in the most off-hand way. The owners, in some instances, have been fortunate enough to sell to farmers at prices in excess of the bank valuation in Cedulas, and these latter take over the Cedulas and continue the service of the debt to the mortgage bank. The law favors these Centros in many ways, and in some ways the favor amounts to a real injustice, as will be seen from the following—

When the Southern Railway extended its line to Bahia Blanca a "media estacion", as it was then called, was placed between the stations Rocha and La Gama, a brick house was made for the permanent way gang, the necessary roads and "potreros" were wired off and purchased from the owner of the land, for the express purpose of some day opening a station, as soon as the traffic should warrant such a course. The land is high, most aptly suited for agriculture, and, as all the world knew that there would be the station, the place has been worked as such for close on five years. The private colony this year produced over one hundred thousand fanegas of cereals and over fifty thousand arrobas of potatoes. The poor colonists have carted their crops all this time to Rocha, which lies in fairly low ground and is very difficult to get at in time of floods, patiently waiting for the happy day when they would load their grain in the station in their own colony, where this day, now that the harvest is going on, over eight hundred souls exist, for when they began nobody dreamt of Centros-Agricolas. The Railway last year, seeing the great importance of the colony, gave them a siding, and in order to do such had to obtain permission from Government; and since have sent bricks, mortar, doors, windows, and even printed tickets to open the station of Las Martinetas to traffic, and when they present themselves at La Plata, asking for permission to open the station, they find that the neighbours on the Rocha side have got out a Centro-Agricola for a piece of land not half the size of the existing colony, and upon which not an inch of land is yet ploughed, and the Government decree the station to be moved half a league nearer Rocha on to the land where nothing is done—leaving the other poor fellows who have worked four years and a half, and who have actually produced this year over a hundred thousand fanegas, and last year eight-five thousand fanegas of cereals to go without, although the department of engineers distinctly informed on this subject that the decred station was low, whereas the other was high, exactly half way between Rocha and La Gama, as known all about the district as the "Media Estacion" and that otherwise the colonies would be served by two stations, since the siding already existed. It seems incredible, that with such information from the department of engineers, to say nothing of the foregoing facts, the Government insist on the removal from a positive and flourishing colony to a "Possible Centro Agricola," which has not yet even produced the Cedulas. The proceeding appears to us most unjust.

The Southern Railway is taking the matter in hand and the colonists and land owners round about are going to wait upon Governor Paz and explain to him the real facts of the case; and we feel confident that when this is done he will promptly give the Southern Railway authority to open the station of the "Maravictas" and thus do justice and set the matter right.

Railway Items.

The Board of Public Works have sent an engineer to inspect the Santiago-Tucuman extension, with a view to ascertain if the line be in a condition to be opened to traffic as far as kil. 232, from Sunchales, say Pinto Station. If the inspector report favorably, the line will be opened to traffic on March 1st.

Mr. E. Kock, C.E., will probably be appointed by the Home Minister to accompany the surveying staffs for the Villaguay-Mercedes (Corrientes) railway.

The Chilian Times says—

"Track laying on the Huanchaca railway was accomplished to a distance of nine kilometres beyond Uyuni at Christmas. There remained twenty kilometres only to complete the distance to Huanchaca. The directors in England have given orders to push on the line into the interior of Bolivia."

Our exchanges from Rosario state that the increase in the Colonial railway tariff has created quite a revolution, and people in the colonies are beginning to feel the crisis Far from the corruption of the city, the settlers had never dreamed of hard times, but now that they have to pay "through the nose" for their fares and their goods, they have begun to raise a most pitiable hue and cry. Our exchanges state that everything is becoming dear.

Advices from Parana state that the active manager of the Central Entre Riano is pushing the repairs forward, and that the line will soon be in complete working order.

Letters from Monte Caseros say that typhoid fever has carried off several of Messrs. Clark's navvies.

Several of the tramway companies have new cars on their lines now, and we learn that fifty have come out recently from the United States for one company alone.

Advices from the Mount state that the Chamber of Representatives have approved the Caymari-Cleminson contract for the Western Railway.

The River Plate Times says—

"The works on the Midland Uruguay line are being pushed forward with great activity and it is possible that by the month of March they will be completed and the line opened to public service.

The section of the line at present open to the public is eighty-one and a half kilometres, from the Paso de los Toros to the Merinos Station. The permanent way is laid from this point to the Arroyo Guayabos in the Palmar Grande, kilometre 118, where the iron work of the bridge over the said Arroyo is being set up.

From Paysandu in the direction of the Paso de los Toros the permanent way is ready up to kilometre 122, so that only the trifle of some four kilometres is still without rails and these will be at once laid down.

The line from Paysandu to Salto is laid to the Queguay Station, thirty-one kilometres from Paysandu, the locomotive and construction service crossing the bridge over the Queguay which is already terminated. This bridge measures two hundred metres across, having five spans of twenty metres and two of five metres. Up to the present the largest span yet used in any bridge in the Republic is, we understand, fifty metres.

From Salto, where this line joins the North-Eastern of Uruguay railway, there are twelve kilometres of rails laid up to the Dayman bridge, which is four hundred and fifty metres long. This bridge would, we understand, have been already finished, but for the loss of a lighter off Colonia, loaded with the material necessary for the conclusion of the structure. Material to replace that thus lost, has been telegraphed for, and until its arrival, the part not yet constructed will be built up in a temporary manner. All the earthworks and masonry of all the bridges on the line are already finished."

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The weather again warmed up most uncomfortably yesterday, and, as usual, the gold premium followed suit to some extent. Advices from Mendoza reported everything quiet up there, and the apprehended revolution fizzled.

They began the masquerade ball season in Montevideo on Sunday in the genuine old style in the Solis Theatre. Half the company were carried out for repairs, and cracked skulls were counted by dozens. How it all began the telegrams do not say.

Chilian mails came to hand yesterday but there is not a word of news in them, except the following figures of the Chilian army and navy for this year:—The strength of the land forces in 1890 is fixed at 5,885 men of the three arms. The sea forces comprise 3 iron-clads, 3 corvettes, 4 cruisers, 2 gunboats, 2 torpedo attack boats, 1 steamer, 5 dispatch boats, and 10 torpedo boats.

The Tutelar Mutual Aid affair is one of the shadiest in this city for some time. We refer to it in our leading columns.

It is stated that Bocayuva likes both sides of the Plate so much that he won't go back to Rio till March, unless the Imperialists should pluck up heart of grace and give trouble.

Influenza is reported to be still spreading in Montevideo; but not here. No one has yet died of it, nor won't we hope.

An old lame beggar woman, whom many of our readers may often have seen going about the streets with a little girl, has, by the death of her uncle in Chile, just come in for $260,000 in hard cash, two large estancias, a colony in the South and three fishing smacks. This is a turn of Fortune's wheel with a vengeance.

We hear with deep dejection that influenza has broken out in Rosario. It evidently means to make a tour of the republic.

An evening colleague reports a high-life elopment from La Plata, because a stern papa did not approve of his would-be son-in-law. The foolish young people have not been caught yet and are supposed to be in the Interior.

Howard Paul says:—"I once addressed postal cards to men I knew, asking: "Why they married". Here are some of the replies: 1 That's what I've been trying for ten years to discover.—2. Because Nelly told me that five other men had proposed to her.—3 I was lonesome, and wanted some one to make me lively. She makes me very lively.—4 Because I thought she was one among a thousand. Now I sometimes think she is a thousand among one.—5 I thought it would be cheaper than a breach of promise case.—6 I wanted a companion of the opposite sex. P.S. She is still opposite.

A German Floating Exhibition.—The Kaiser Wilhelm, which is to contain the German Floating Exhibition, is a steamer without masts or rigging, having a length of 569 ft. and a width of 69ft. She will be the largest vessel afloat, and her middle deck will be occupied with eight exhibition halls and galleries. There will also be pavilions on deck, restaurants, bed-rooms, concert halls, and reading rooms. Her mission is to exhibit the products of the German Empire to the whole world, and the voyage is expected to last two years. During this time she will call at eighty different ports, and remain at each for several days. The expedition has been promoted by the Deutscher Exportverein, and will start from the port of Hamburg.

The rain prevented the bull-fight at Montevideo on Sunday and nobody seemed a bit the worse yesterday. Strange!

The rumour that Dr. Carcano, the Post Master General, is about to resign is flatly contradicted by the best authority. It would be a great pity and loss to the public if Dr. C. resigned. He found the department in a state of shameful disorganization, and has worked it up to a most creditable condition. It is now possible to send money by post, without having it stolen, a quite impossible thing some years ago.

The Tigre is to have electric light along the Victoria Esplanade shortly. The War Minister has so ordered. This will rouse up the mosquitoes for miles around, as they all like the light of the future enormously because it brings into strong relief the best biting places on the human cutis. Tigre mosquitoes are known to be the most ferocious on this continent.

There was a large attendance at the Frontou Nacional on Sunday. Chiquito and his partner won the first game, although 100 to 49 was at one time offered on Ozoro, but just before the close 100 to 10 was offered on the winners. The second game was a wretched one, as the Manco sulked and would not play, in return for which the public hissed him soundly. Portal fell and fainted, but, on recovering, pluckily continued the game.

There is a pleasant prospect of 400 more squares of wood pavement in this terribly noisy city. The contractors offer to give 18 years for payment, so the cost will not weigh too heavily on the impoverished city treasury.

It is finally decided that there is to be a Corso this Carnival. The Salubrity people have promised to finish their work in Calle Florida and leave the street free before the 15th.

The chief event at the Tigre Hotel on Sunday was the visit of Dr. Quintana's (junior) handsome steam yacht, the Mercedes, which has lately arrived from England and on that day made its inaugural trip. Early in the morning it left with a party of friends for the Carabelas in the Parana de los Palmas, where breakfast was served. In the evening other friends joined the party at dinner whilst moored to the trees in the Abra Nueva, and later on the Mercedes steamed slowly up to the Tigre Hotel, which was saluted with a brilliant display of fireworks from on board. Mr. Salas's beautiful steamer, the Guayraca, was also very much admired by the many visitors at the hotel. Dr. Quintana's boat is a duplicate of Count di Bardi's yacht, which cruises in the Adriatic and is fitted with hoods and canvas and turtle back for bad weather, to admit of trips up the Uruguay. Mr. Salas's craft has been built specially for the requirements of Tigre navigation, but it also is well fitted for bad weather, of which it already has had its share. Both are of about fifty feet long, are very handsomely appointed and steam easily twelve miles an hour. They were built by Simpson, Strictland and Co., under the directions of the Yacht Club Argentino, whose burgee they fly, and there is no doubt they are the handsomest steam craft that have yet been seen here and are the best adapted for our climate and waters. We understand that the steam yacht, built of Delta metal, by White, of Cowes, for the late Mr. Corti, is now on her way out.

Our dates from Panama are to 28th ult. American gold is at the unpleasantly stiff premium of 66 there. There is no particular news. The Panama Canal is never mentioned now, as it is seen that the Nicaragua Canal is certain of success.

Helped by a stiff sou easter, old ocean rolled into Bahia Blanca the other day up to the Great Southern Railway station. No damage done. The weather at B. B. is now so very cold that winter clothes are the rule, except on odd days when the heat is unbearable.

The following are the names of the Deputies elected on Sunday all over the republic:

Capital—General Lucio V. Mansilla, Dr. Bartolomé Novarro, Dr. José Maria Ramos Mejia, Dr. Pascual Beracochea, Hector C. Quesada.

Province of Buenos Ayres—Epifanio Portels, Pastor Tapia, Colonel Julio S. Dantas, Dr. Julian Panelo, Colonel Hilario Lagos, Dr. José Vicente Udapilleta, Dr. Emilio Carranza, Dr. Manuel

Advices from Rosario report a sudden lull in the wheat business. Buyers are reported out of the market.

Several thousand steers from the estancias of General Campos, Herrera, Britos, Arambum, Diaz, etc., in Entre-Rios, are reported purchased for "saladero" account at $19 and 20 per head.

No fewer than 17 ocean vessels entered Rosario port yesterday. This shews what is going on up river.

Mr. H. V. Agrelo has requested the Camara Sindical to erase his name from the list of brokers.

Although a very meagre business was done in gold at the second ring, the premium shot up to 117.50 for to-morrow, and 118 for Saturday, end of the month, and end of March. The feeling in the market was very bullish and the premium closed with a bounding tendency.

Provincial Cedulas P advanced to 65.50 this evening, on a par nearly with N and O. In National Cedulas, the gold series A advanced to 70.

A few shares of the Banco de Comercio were sold at the second ring at 95. This is an advance of 10 points since yesterday.

Business in stocks at the second ring was insignificant, Constructors closed at 78, Obligaciones at 6.30 and Catalinas at 48.50

It may interest investors to know that to morrow five hundred shares of the Compania General de Credito will be sold at auction at the close of the ring.

Government has authorized Messrs. J A. Garcia, C. Aldao, and L. A. Sauze, to erect deposits, elevators, wharves etc. in Villa Constitucion and Puerto Piedras, where these gentlemen have extensive properties. The concessionaires will do all the construction at their own cost and build connections with the railways running within 10 kilometres from Villa Constitucion. Besides which they must build tramways to connect the wharves with the town. In other words this V La Constitucion is to be made a principal port and outlet for the produce carried by the Santa Fe and Cordoba Great Southern Railway. The concessionaires may issue warrants on produce stored in their deposits and advance money to the holders at 10 per cent per annum to the amount of two-thirds of the value held.

The Uwareta "Saladero" has purchased a large lot of "novillos" in the Federacion district at $11 gold per head. This sounds a very high price.

The Savoie left to-day for the Mediterranean.

The R.M.S. Atrato leaves to-morrow for Europe.

All the so-called privileges granted by decree of February of last year to ocean vessels engaged in loading operations have now been extended to coasting craft, in view of the complaints of merchants owing to delays, especially in the loading of cereals.

The exports of maize during the second fortnight of January from this port amounted to 143,000 bags, not much to speak of when we hear of 30,000 bags per steamer going forward.

The following vessels entered port yesterday:—

British steamer Para, from Liverpool, with general cargo, consigned to Messrs. Johnston and Co.

Norwegian barque Canova, from Cardiff, with cargo and coal to order.

Austrian barque Conte Spertufume from Marseilles, with general cargo to order.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's
CHLORODYNE.
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE

Advice to Invalids.—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by D. J. Collis Brown, (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russel Street, Bloomsbury, London
Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan; but all over the East. As a remedy for general utility, we must question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are so sorry to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances "ad infinitum" of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne.s Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative that have occurred under our personal observation during many years, In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm Conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate Breach of Faith on the part of the Chemist to prescribe and Patient alike. We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes and Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain. His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists.

Caution.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne, was, undoubtedly, the Inventor of Chlorodine; that the story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to,—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1 1|2d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution.—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

Notice.

We are always willing to take charge of ordinary letters (but not registered letters) addressed to our care, and these, as our readers well know, we advertise in our columns; this, however, we are unable to do with the enormous number of newspapers sent to THE STANDARD for new comers and others: we have now such an immense accumulation of these that the receptacles devoted to their reception in our office are over-crowded. We must, therefore, beg all persons expecting newspapers to call for them at their earliest convenience, in justice both to themselves and THE STANDARD.

It is the only Dip that is so durable in the wool as to keep the sheep clean and free from contagion from dipping to shearing, thus saving a great deal of valuable time and labour to the Estanciero during the winter months.

It is fast becoming the favorite Dip throughout the world, as it never fails in the worst cases of Scab.
